

STAFF-STUDENT RELATIONS

The Board of Education accepts the principle that the relationship between staff and students should be one of cooperation, understanding and respect. The Board believes that the Superintendent of Schools and each building level administrator must exhibit a visible, involved relationship with student activities to create an appropriate environment for learning.

As the director of learning experiences within the classroom, the teacher is expected to exercise interpersonal skills to promote an atmosphere conducive to learning and to motivate each student to perform at maximum capacity.

a*d